

I am in opposition to any changes or preeemption by the FCC to our current Tennessee Do Not Call program. This regulation was enacted to protect consumers, and the wishes or desires of telemarketers should not be allowed to supersede the wishes of the people to enjoy time in their own homes without being disturbed. Many telemarketers are very rude and overbearing, and persist in calling at all hours of the day and night including weekends. The burden should remain on the telemarketers to be in compliance with the various state Do Not Call laws, regardless of any hardship they state this causes, and not be a burden on the consumer. Thank you.

Bob Stubblefield